Every fall prior to lake freeze-up, LOWBrewCo 'deep sixes' hundreds of bottles of small batch, handcrafted beer to the bottom of Lake of the Woods. Placed below the ice line and secured in anchored cages, the beer receives the benefit of (at a minimum six month) lagering in near freezing - four degrees Celsius - watery lake current. This results in really cool beer. Check out the video to see how we "deep sixed" the beer online at deep6.beer
